

SPAIN

ALBERTO CHICOTE

Since 2012, he has been succeeding with “Pesadilla en la Cocina” (‘Kitchen Nightmare,’)the most-watched entertainment program on laSexta, which is now in its eighth season, making him one of the most beloved and popular chefs in Spain. Currently, he combines this with the recording of the fourth season of 'Are You Going to Eat It?' and 'Battle of Restaurants,' his new show on laSexta. He describes himself as a cook with olive oil running through his veins, one who cooks more with his gut than with his head... and who savors life in delicious bites. A pioneer in the fusion cuisine of Spanish gastronomy, his experiences form the essence of his restaurant, Omeraki, created alongside his wife Inma, with sustainability as its core.

